The Air-tight Stewart

Ventilating Stove for hard or soft coal, made in four sizes, has greater capacity than any other stove on the market. Do not confuse it with any other style stove as it is absolutely without a competitor. It is air and gas tight; will keep fire longer than any other stove. No stove can compare with it in heating power. It is the cleanest of all soft coal stoves; has the largest ash-pan; easy to handle; it is constructed entirely of cast-iron, and is sold at a slight advance over the common oak stove. See it before buying.

"The Goblins will Catch You if You Don't Watch Out."

It was not strange that a good sized audience should have greeted the appearance of Anna Eva Fay at the Opera House last eaening. The mysterious, the apparently unfathomable, (especially if associated in the mind with super-mundane influences) has a peculiar attraction for nine-tenths of the human family; and this fundamental fact is made use of in many of the affairs of life. Barnum said "The world loves to be humbugged." It simply loves to imagine itself investigating the strange, mysterious and incomprehensible. The demand for the marvelous often creates a supply of the marvelous, and we have hosts of people who make an easy living by furnishing this supply. Among these are the sleight-of-hand performers, such as amused us at the Assembly last summer. But when we know that the things apparently done before our eyes are really deceptions, and have had one or two of the apparently most mysterious explained, we are surprised at their simplicity and ashamed of our gullibility. So the honest prestidigitator has lost prestige. Now, if he can produce an almost parallel series of the phenomena and us assure that they genuinely performed by some occult influence outside of his own consciousness, he has not only gained his lost footing, but really added to his laurels.

Anna Eva Fay last evening performed some very mysterious and interesting demonstrations; but they were all performed under conditions of her own appointing and which rendered real investigation impossible. They were, with some slight variations, the same as the alleged spirit manifestations so frequently described and so often seen; but were not absolutely claimed to be of spirit origin; the half claim to an unknown possibly scientifically demonstratable source adding real interest to the occasion and tending to increase the audience.

We are not accusing Miss Fay of deception, only inasmuch as we think she did not tell all she knew of the manner in which her very skillful tricks were performed. She certainly fulfilled her promise of interesting her large audidence; and as we presaged a few days ago, those among them who were believers in spiritual phenomena, were confirmed in their faith, while those who were skeptical, while they were unable to discover the modus operandi of the demonstrations, were unrelieved of their skepticism.

—A letter from Dr. H. J. Brooks, of Chicago, to Edmund Camp, says that Mr. J. L. Pyett, whose illness we mentioned yesterday, died in the Elgin asylum Wednesday afternoon about five o'clock, and was buried Thursday morning, the funeral attended by Rev. S. Earngey, Dr. Brooks and others. So, at last the sufferings and afflictions of one well remembered by many friends in Dixon are ended, and a clouded earth life we hope has opened upon a brighter existence. Mrs. Pyett, whose mental troubles were relieved many years ago, is at present making her home in New York.

—We venture that there is not a Republican in Lee county, but would hold up both hands in endorsement of the following declaration recently passed by the Bureau County Republican convention:

"After twenty years of faithful and distinguished service as a Representative in Congress, General Thomas J. Henderson is not again to be a candidate. The Republicans in Bureau county in convention assembled deire to bear testimony to their continued confidence in him, and regret any condition of affairs which is to deprive them of his service, or deny them the privilege of voting for him. In all the years that he has represented them his personal and political character has been without reproach, and it is with no little pride that we proclaim the fact that he not only has the utmost confidence of the people of this county, but irrespective of party, the expressed confidence of the most distinguished statesmen of the nation. An earnest champion of Republican principles, a faithful friend of the people, they hope he may long live to enjoy the respect and esteem of his fellow-citizens in the future, as he always enjoyed it in the past. The officers of this convention are hereby directed to engross and present to General Henderson a copy of this declaration."

—The October number of the Forum comes with an uncommonly interesting table of contents. President Eliot, of Harvard University, leads with the most profound and suggestive article that he has ever written, on "Reasons Why the Republic May Endure," in which he enumerates all the principal forces and tendencies in our civilization, with an effort to point out those that make for permanence: Religious toleration, universal education, better domestic relations, attention to public health and pleasure, an increasing optimism, etc., etc. He shows too how many ideas on which the popular optimism rests may be of no permanent avail. This is a very suggestive essay. The Forum in eleven timely articles, by as many distinguished writers, presents to its readers the latest results of original investigation and research in many fields of keen general interest,—the larger political and social tendencies of the Republic, the Japan-China War, Socialism, international politics, railroad problems, education, literature, etc.

—The last three weeks of "Aladdin, Jr." are announced and Chicago will soon say good-bye to the grandest spectacular endeavor ever put on the American stage. Already there is seen an unusual amount of bustle and activity on and about the Chicago Opera House stage. Scenery is being retouched, costumes brightened, and numerous bits of properties fixed up for travel. For the next few weeks to come a surfeit of new jokes, songs and dances will be added. Always on the alert for something new and novel, Mr. Henderson has arranged with Chas. Sheard & Co., the noted London music publishers, to immediately send him the latest vocal hits, so as to have them first. Signor Marchetti, he of the many names and gestures, is evolving a new ballet divertisement, which bids fair to eclipse any of his previous terpsecorean efforts. John J. Burke, the comedian, has a never failing budget of funny sayings and his new songs are the talk of the town. New living pictures are being added, which form a fitting finale to the greatest extravaganza ever seen. On November 2nd, the 200th performance will be given. Following "Aladdin, Jr." at the Chicago Opera House comes the Tavary Opera Company in a repertoire of grand operas.

—One of the most interesting features of the October Arena, if not of the whole magazine hawl of the month, is "The Woman's Symposium on the Land Question," which is the first time the opinions of so many of our representative women have been presented on this subject. The women who contribute are eminent in various lines of social thought and literary work, and they fittingly represent the women's movements in the three great divisions of the English speaking people—the United States, England and Australia. It is often said that women are not capable of considering economic subjects because of their emotionalism. A careful reading of this symposium will disabuse the minds of many of this error. Miss Estella Bachman Brokaw writes on The Fundamental Reform; Altona A. Chapman, Socialism and Individualism Harmonized; Sarah Mifflin Gay, The Solution of the Labor Question; Julia A. Kellogg, Political Economy Based upon Justice; Frances M. Milne, Individual Freedom and Social Wellbeing; Lona Ingham Robinson, The Centrifugal Reform; Frances E. Russell, A Broad Basis for Practical Brotherhood: Catherine H. Spence, Equitable Representation and the Land Question; Charlotte Perkins Stetson, Land must be free that we may Live; Eliza Stowe Twitchell, Respect for God's Law's and for all His Children; and Beatrice Webb (Mrs. Sidney Webb), A Fabian on the Land Question. In the group of American contributors almost every section is represented.

Note Heads, Letter Heads, Bill Heads, etc., neatly and promptly printed at this office.

PUTS IN A DAY ON THE HUSTINGS,

And Stirs Up the Voters All Along the Line—Large Meetings at Terre Haute and Evansville—Hill Keeps the Iron Heating in New York on the Other Side of the Question, and Is Warmly Welcomed at Binghamton—Field Notes.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 13.—General Benjamin Harrison spoke to 4,000 people in Evans' hall yesterday evening. It was the concluding address in a series of eight, beginning early in the forenoon at Clayton and ranging down the state through Plainfield, Brazil, Greencastle, Sullivan, Terre Haute, Vincennes and Princeton. The smallest gathering was at Plainfield, the largest at Evansville. Terre Haute turned out 10,000 people to greet the ex-president and the residents of country hamlets along the line turned out to cheer the train as it flew by. General Harrison was in his best form. His ability as an extempore speaker was never more apparent, and while all the places visited were not by any means Republican strongholds he was everywhere received with hearty cheers and listened to with respect.

Introduced by "Dick" Thompson.

At Terre Haute, as the ex-president was driven from the Vandalia station to Naylor's Opera house, his progress resembled an ovation. The building itself was crowded to suffocation, and while 3,500 people secured admission twice that number were forced to remain outside, contenting themselves with echoing the applause that greeted the general. He was introduced by Hon. Richard W. Thompson, the "Ancient Mariner of the Wabash," who, despite his four score years, is still an active campaigner, and who aroused the audience to a high pitch of enthusiasm in presenting the orator of the day. When the train reached this city, several thousand people were found braving the drizzle to greet the ex-president. Opposite the station marching clubs from the city and adjoining towns were drawn up in line.

Given a Hearty Welcome.

As the Heminway club, of Evansville, preceded by the Terre Haute brass band, formed in open order to escort the general to the St. George hotel the voices of thousands of people rang out in a hearty welcome. At the hotel a reception was held, lasting an hour, and it was a little after 8 o'clock when the ex-president proceeded to Evans hall, where he made the principal address of the evening. The hall is said to seat 4,000 people, but there must have been 5,000 packed in like raisins when the orator of the evening made his appearance and, standing directly under a large portrait of himself, was introduced by Cicero Buchanan.

The Speaker at Evans Hall.

The scene at Terre Haute was repeated and the great masses of flags and bunting that depended from the walls trembled in the applause that swept through the building. The cheering was renewed again and again and it was fully five minutes before quiet was restored and General Harrison allowed to proceed. His speech was a very forcible review of the tariff question from the Republican standpoint and at its close and all through he was tremendously cheered.

M'KINLEY AT GRAND RAPIDS,

Incidents of His Trip Through Michigan—Tale of Two Banners.

GRAND RAPIDS, Oct. 13.—Governor McKinley arrived here last night and left for Ohio at 11:40 p. m. He had a very large and enthusiastic audience here, and spoke at length on the tariff. At Ionia, en route here, there was a very large crowd, people from all the surrounding towns being present. He spoke from a platform in a drizzling rain. Many of those present wore on their shoulders tin shilds on which were painted, "McKinley, 1896," and small plates of tin bearing the word "McKinley" were worn in the hats.

Just below the hotel some enterprising Democrats had suspended a huge sign inscribed, "Our Factories Are All Busy, the Result of the Wilson Law," and some equally enterprising Republicans got a big piece of canvass with the single word "England's" painted on it, and two stout men faithfully held this on poles under the Democratic sign.

Governor McKinley was interrupted by some sympathizer in the crowd. The rain had begun to fall and the sympathizer sang out "Put your hat on, governor; we want to save you for 1896." The governor smiled at his considerate friend and replied: "Thanks. It is a good suggestion, but I can never resist the temptation to uncover in the presence of the American people, the only earthly sovereign we recognize in the United States."

HILL SPEAKS AT BINGHAMTON.

He Meets Another Enthusiastic Audience—Plea for Party Unity.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Senator Hill faced here last night for his second attack upon the Republican party an audience equally as enthusiastic as that at Syracuse. Senator Hill stepped to the front of the platform and in a clear, decisive manner began his address. In addition to reiterating the sentiments expressed at Syracuse he said: "I embrace this early opportunity to express my sincere appreciation of the local and cordial support which is being given the state ticket by those who have heretofore differed with me in regard to inter-party affairs, especially in the rural districts of the state.

"With entire unanimity those who have been generally regarded as the especial friends of the national administration have earnestly wheeled into line, and are performing valiant service in behalf of the cause, and I should be unjust to them, as well as unjust to myself, if I did not take occasion to freely acknowledge their magnanimity and generous action. They seem to realize more keenly than do some of our party friends in New York and Brooklyn the absolute necessity of party unity in the present emergency, involving as it does the very existence of the Democratic party itself.

"They are Democrats as well as reformers, and believe in reformation within party lines. They realize that a Republican victory in New York will strengthen the forces of protection everywhere and greatly imperil all that has been gained and accomplished during the past two years for the cause of tariff reform. They are practically men who are willing to sink preconceived prejudices and personal preferences as to men in the struggle to secure substantial advantages for the principles of the cause they advocate, and they know that principles cannot triumph except through the election of party candidates."

This portion of the senator's speech was an eloquent plea for the unity of the Democracy of the state.

Vice President at Rock Island.

ROCK ISLAND, Ills., Oct. 13.—Vice President Stevenson arrived here from Quincy and after a short stay at the hotel went to Davenport, where he was dined by the Horace Boies club and held a reception at the Turner Opera House. In the evening he returned to Rock Island and addressed a large crowd at Harper's theater. His remarks were on the lines of his Lincoln speech. Bernard J. Claggett, Democratic candidate for state treasurer, and John Olson, congressional candidate, also spoke briefly.

Cullom Speaks at Watseka.

WATSEKA, Ills., Oct. 13.—Senator Cullom addressed a Republican gathering at the Opera House here, which taxed the capacity of the house. The speech was much the same as that delivered at the opening of the campaign in the state at Robinson. Colonel Isaac Clements, ex-commissioner of pensions, spoke from the same platform in the evening to another large audience.

Wilson Wildly Applauded.

PIEDMONT, W. Va., Oct. 13.—Last night's meeting, addressed by Hon. W. L. Wilson and others, was an immense demonstration, when the small size of the place is taken into consideration. When introduced Mr. Wilson was accorded a round of cheers thrice repeated, followed by prolonged applause.

Gone to Join the Populists.

DENVER, Oct. 13.—Alfred Skeels, secretary, and A. B. Flood, treasurer of the Republican league of Colorado, have resigned and announced that they will support the nominees of the People's party. The reasons given by them are that the Republican party, outside of this state, is opposed to free coinage of silver.

Pensylvania Democratic Clubs.

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 13.—The State League of Democratic clubs convened here with representatives of all the prominent Democratic organizations in attendance. At the rally in the afternoon speeches were made by Governor Pattison and several of the candidates on the state ticket.

BUSINESS IS STILL WAITING.

Dun & Co. Takes a View of Things That Is Not Rose-Colored.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Business is still waiting for the development of retail trade. There is a little better demand in some industries, but not so good in others. Wholesale dealers in nearly all branches are halting because business does not yet show distinctly what it is to be. Lower prices for the great farm staples and lower wages in some establishments hinder purchases for consumption, while political interest and uncertainty also have some retarding influence. Meanwhile large imports and small exports of merchandise with inadequate employment for money here are raising the rates of foreign exchange so that possibilities of gold exports somewhat affect the stock market.

The government crop reports are not greatly trusted, and yet have an influence, and actually exaggerate the tendency toward lower prices, because they are supposed to report all the crops too low. Men calmly reckon that if the government report indicates over 400,000,000 bushels of wheat the crop must be over 500,000,000 bushels. The iron industry records a larger production in September than in any other month this year, but as prices are gradually weakening because of insufficient demand for finished products some works are preparing to close or shorten time.

The woolen mills still have numerous belated orders for fall goods, but the demand for spring does not increase, though in nearly all the lower priced products domestic makers appear able to command most of the business that exists. Sales of wool have been 4,877,949 pounds against 2,500,452 last year, and 7,090,600 in 1892, and prices are a shade weaker for fine fleece, Ohio XX selling at 17½ cents at Philadelphia, but combing and territory wool are steady.

Failures for the week ended Oct. 4 show liabilities of $1,714,276, of which $805,885 are of manufacturing and $892,391 of trading concerns. There have been 231 in the United States against 393 last year, and 43 in Canada against 42 last year.

Seven Perish in the Lake.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Oct. 13.—The schooner Hartford went to pieces on the rocks twenty-five miles east of here during the storm, and all hands were drowned. The first body to wash ashore was that of the infant of the captain, who had his wife and baby along. Following are the names of the lost: Captain William O'Toole; Mrs. O'Toole and child; Mate Richard Seymour, Clayton; Michael Purcell, seaman, Clayton; Dennis McCarthy, seaman, Oswego; unknown sailor. The O'Tooles leave six orphans at their home in Clayton.

Women's Clubs of Illinois.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—The presidents and delegates of the women's clubs of Illinois to discuss the matter of a state federation held their second session, and adopted a constitution, which gives the organization a permanent existence. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Isabella Lanning Candee; first vice president, Mrs. W. J. Chalmers; second vice president, Mrs. Virginia Bash; corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. B. Farson; recording secretary, Mrs. M. P. Schenck; treasurer, Mrs. Whittemore.

Priests Appeal to Satolli.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Owing to a change in the boundaries of a Roman Catholic parish in this city by which the best part, as it is claimed, is taken from the jurisdiction of the Servite Fathers, there is friction between said fathers and Archbishop Feehan. The fathers have protested and appealed to Satolli, the pope's abegate in the United States, to set aside the action of the archbishop.

Lockwood Remains Silent.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Congressman D. N. Lockwood, Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor both on the regular and independent tickets, still refuses to say whether he will permit the use of his name on the third ticket or not.

GOT $50 000 IN GOLD.

Latest Train Robbery Proves a Huge Success.

BANDITS STRIKE A BIG BONANZA.

Railway and Express Companies Offer $10,000 Reward for the Capture of the Robbers and Recovery of the "Swag"—The Crime Well-Planned and Carried Out—Other Brigands Hold Up a Train in the Old Dominion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—The bandits who held up a Southern Pacific overland train a few miles west of Sacramento, late Thursday night, and looted the Wells Fargo company express car, secured over $50,000. They seem to have eluded the officers and escaped with their plunder, which was nearly all in gold, and consequently a heavy burden. Beyond the mere supposition that the bandits are railway men who have been in the employ of the Southern Pacific—and the supposition is based only on their apparent familiarity with railway methods and their ability to successfully handle a locomotive—the pursuing officials have very little to work upon. The astounding success of the hold-up was not known until this writing. Earlier reports of the robbery gave the amount of money taken at $1,500.

Big Reward for the Robbers.

When inquiries were made at the general offices of the Wells Fargo company in this city, Manager Cooper declined to state how much plunder the robbers secured, declaring that it was simply a matter between the express company and the consignees of the treasure. He refused positively to give any information to the point. The truth came out, however, when the Southern Pacific issued a circular offering a reward of $10,000 for the arrest of the two robbers and the recovery of the plunder. In this circular it is stated the bandits plundered the express car of over $50,000 in gold. The circular announces that the Southern Pacific company and the Wells Fargo company will pay $2,500 for the capture of each robber and $5,000 for the recovery of the money or a proportionate amount for any part of the whole.

Details of the Robbery.

Details of this robbery show it to have been well planned by men who knew just what they were about and who were determined that little thing like dilling a man in cold blood should not interfere with their scheme. As soon as the train stopped the robbers covered the engineer and fireman with guns and compelled them to accompany them to the express car. Messenger Jack Paige shot twice at the bandits and came near losing his life. The engineer and fireman called to Paige to open the door, as the train robbers were going to shoot them if he did not and were prepared to blow up the car with dynamite. He complied with their request and the robbers looted the car of gold, which they loaded on the locomotive and steamed away in the direction of Sacramento, starting the engine back "wild" when they had done with it.

How They Stopped the Train.

The robbers waylaid the track walker on his tricycle about 9 o'clock, tied him hand and foot, stole $5.50 and left him helpless at the side of the track. The track walker was just pulling out of Sheep camp and the overland was already in sight. With the track walker's lantern the robbers signaled No. 3 to stop. Scott slowed up, but did not come to a full stop until the explosion of dynamite bombs under the engine warned him that it was useless to proceed further. By this time the two robbers were on the engine. They sprang on from opposite sides of the track, and began shooting at once. The passengers and train hands say quite a number of shots were fired before anybody knew what it was all about.

WAS A CASE OF SAVING LIFE.

The Messenger Opens the Express Car and It Is Looted.

The robbers forced the fireman to uncouple the express car from the train and then ran that much of the train about five miles before they stopped and went on with the robbery. The rest of the train remained at Sheep camp in imminent peril of being telescoped by the Oregon train in the rear. When the captured cars were halted Engineer Scott and the fireman were marched back to the express car, where the robbers made a demand on Messenger Paige to open his door. He refused.

"We'll shoot the engineer and fireman if you don't open in a hurry," said one of the robbers, the tallest of the two, while the other masked man held two dynamite bombs up to view in the clear moonlight and threatened to blow the express car to pieces unless it was opened at once.

Still Paige hesitated and some shots were fired through the glass door at him, one of which grazed his temple and filled it with broken bits of glass. Then the engineer called out to Paige to open the door. "We're covered with guns and they will kill us if you don't open," said Scott. Still Paige resisted and began to fire through the door, but his aim was wild, and again Scott, in fear of his life, called on the messenger to open, saying that the robbers would surely blow him up unless he gave up. The messenger finally opened the door. One robber then covered the messenger and the engineer and fireman with his rifle while the other searched for coin.

It was soon found. "I was about out of ammunition," said Messenger Paige, "and Scott was so badly frightened that I opened the door to save his life. I am sure they would have killed him if I had held back a moment longer." The engineer and fireman were ordered to jump into the car. The robbers followed them. Train No. 10 was close behind and the bandits evidently knew that their time was precious. The engineer and fireman were made to carry the booty to the engine and deposit where directed.

The robbers mounted the engine and rode off, leaving the engineer and fireman behind. They went down the road toward Sacramento and then they reversed the lever and sent the engine back to the stalled train. Low steam was all that prevented a smash-up as the result of this part of the game. Train No. 10, the Oregon express, came along and pushed the three detached sections of train No. 3 into Sacramento, where they arrived at 12:30 in the morning.

The detectives are as yet without a clue to the identity of the robbers, and it is not even known in what direction the band has fled. Thursday two strangers registered at the Western hotel and were given a room in which they left overcoats and overalls. They did not sleep in the room, but next morning returned and claimed their property. They are said to answer the description of the robbers.

THE BRIGANDS GROWING BOLD.

A Gang Holds Up a Train in Virginia and Gets a Large Booty.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 13.—The northbound passenger train on the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac railway, which left here at 7 o'clock last night, was held up near Quantico. The engineer and fireman were forced from their engine, and the engine was cut loose and sent ahead. The express car was then entered, the messenger covered with a pistol, and the safe blown open and robbed. The runaway locomotive was stopped at Quantico by obstructing the track.

It is stated that there was an unusually large amount of money on the train, probably $50,000. The robbers, seven in number, were masked. The railway company has offered $1,000 reward for the arrest of any of the robbers. The express messenger, B. F. Crutchfield, and his helper, H. Murray, barred the doors of the express car, but these were blown open with dynamite. After the robbery the thieves made off with their booty in the direction of the Potomac river, where it is supposed they had a boat in waiting to take them to the Maryland side.

The operator at Brooks, six miles from Quantico, discovered that the engine was "wild" as it passed his station, and telegraphed to Quantico, where a switch was thrown, so that it was brought into collision with two loaded freight ears and wrecked. Had the locomotive been permitted to pas Quantico it would have collided with the south-bound passenger train.

One trainman said the robbers got $150,000, but this is believed to be a great deal too high an estimate. The express officials refuse to talk.

SUGAR PLANTERS BEATEN.

District Supreme Court Refuses to Mandamus Secretary Carlisle.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The sugar planters of Louisiana claim that the bounty clause in the McKinley bill was practically a contract to pay them bounty and extended at least over the present year, as they had gone to great expense to increase the domestic product of sugar long before the new tariff abolishing the bounty was adopted. They also claim that the Democracy promised them not to disturb the bounty for the current year. So they applied to the District supreme court for a mandamus to compel Secretary Carlisle to appoint inspectors under the McKinley law, the necessary first step in collecting the bounty. Carlisle would not appoint them.

Judge McCamas has denied the application for a mandamus. He says in his decision: "The secretary of the treasury concludes that the sugar-bounty-repeal paragraph of the tariff act of 1894 is a repeal of the act of Oct. 1, 1890, requiring the supervision and inspection of the production of sugar. This clause is not expressly repealed. It is, however, incidental and intermediate to the issuing of licenses to producers and the payment of bounties to them. These are expressly repealed and the issuing of licenses and payment of bounties is declared unlawful. The repeal of the clause for inspection and supervision, a useless fragment of the statute, is therefore fairly implied."

BALTIMORE'S FINANCIAL PLAN.

Comptroller Eckels Briefly Explains the Newest Currency Scheme.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Comptroller of the Currency Eckels, who has returned from the Baltimore convention of bankers, declined to express his approval or disapproval of the new currency scheme proposed by the Baltimore clearing house and adopted by the American Bankers' association. "As I understand it, the originators of this plan do not claim that it is perfect," said the comptroller. "But it may form the groundwork for a system of currency laws that will come at an early day. The Baltimore plan in brief proposes that the assets of the bank shall stand as security for its circulation, instead of the deposits of bonds now required.

"The general currency plan is borrowed in part from the Canadians and in part from the Scotch. The proposition looks forward of course to the re-establishment of some basis for national bank circulation to take the place of government bonds, which must very thortly be paid off and retired. But I am not prepared to discuss the merits of any of these propositions."

Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The Brotherhood of St. Andrew held a packed meeting to listen to an address by Bishop Potter, of New York, on "The City and Nation." At night there was a public meeting with Bishop Potter presiding. The subjects discussed included the church and the brotherhood, followed by a talk on the past and its lessons by G. Harry Davis, of Philadelphia, and another on the present and its opportunities by President Houghtaling, of Chicago. The bishop of Delaware, Right Rev. Leighton Coleman, S. T. D., closed the meeting with a discussion on the future and its possibilities.

Brazil Will Sue for Duties.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—A new complication growing out of the late tariff legislation is presented by Brazil. The reciprocity treaty with Brazil abrogated by the new tariff law provided that to terminate its provisions either government must give the other three months' notice. The abrogation of the Brazilian treaty is now declared to be a violation of its terms and the Brazilians will demand a return of duties paid under the new tariff and immunity from any further exactions until after Jan. 1, when the abrogation would legally take effect under terms of the treaty.

An Unconventional Wedding.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Oct. 13.—"Squire" Russell, of Clifton, eight miles south of here, was called from his work to marry David Vernard and Etta Pickering. During the ceremony they sat in their buggy at the side of the road. They were in a hurry and would not let the squire, who had been unloading coal, wash up. The coal driver was the witness.

Laidlaw Gets no Damages.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The general term of the supreme court has reversed the judgment for $25,000 obtained by William Laidlaw against Russell Sage for damages sustained by him from the dynamite explosion perpetrated by Henry A. Norcross in Sage's office two years ago, and ordered a new trial.

LOCHREN'S REPORT

Review of the Pension Bureau for the Year.

NEARLY A MILLION ON THE ROLLS.

Large Number of Claims Undisposed of Because of Lack of Essential Evidence—New Claims Show a Heavy Falling Off Since 1891—Total Expenditure for the Year, $139,804,461, Leaving a Big Balance—Much Fraud Uncovered.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The report of Commissioner of Pensions Lochren for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1894, has been submitted to the secretary of the interior and the following abstract has been given out for publication: The report states that the number of pensioners on the rolls June 30, 1893, was 966,012; that during the year 39,085 new pensioners were added to the rolls, 37,951 were dropped for death and other causes, and 2,398 previously dropped were restored to the rolls. The number of pensioners upon the rolls of June 30, 1894, was 969,644. The number of pension certificates issued during the year was 80,213, and 132,873 claims of all classes were rejected.

Claims Lacking in Essentials.

On July 1, 1894, there were undisposed of and in different stages of preparation and advancement claims for pensions and for increase to the number of 619,027, of which 287,209 claims—originals, widows and dependents—are on behalf of persons not already on the rolls. These claims, save some recently filed, have been examined more than once and found lacking in essential evidence. They are the same cases that have come down through the past years. The fact is referred to that under the laws the allowances decreased from 50,177 in 1876 to 9,977 ten years later. The arrears act brought in a large number of new claims, increasing the allowances, and the disability act of June 27, 1890, caused 363,787 claims to be filed the next year.

New Claims Are Falling Off.

New claims of all kinds have fallen off from 363,799 in 1891 to 40,148 in 1894, the fact being that original claims for pensions under existing laws are substantially akin and the bulk of new claims are for increase, or for widows and dependents. The old cases on which the most of the work is expended are difficult cases in which proof is defective or lacking, requiring careful consideration and repeated examination as any new piece of evidence is filed, or as often as the condition and status of the case is furnished to the claimant or his attorney, or to a member of congress.

Amount Paid Out for the Year.

The answers to congressional calls alone exceeded 95,000 within the year. Nearly as careful an examination was required in each of these cases as would have been necessary to adjudicate the case if the evidence were complete. With the class of work on hand the utmost diligence on the part of the office force could not produce a large output of certificates. The amount paid for pensions during the year was $139,804,461, leaving a balance in the treasury of $25,205,713 of the appropriation.

Dishonesty and Fraud Uncovered.

Much dishonesty and fraud, mainly attributable to dishonest claim agents, was uncovered, and there were 194 convictions in the United States courts within the year for pension frauds, perjuries and forgeries.

DID NOT HAVE THE "NERVE."

A Texas Woman Who Couldn't Shoot Her Husband's Murderer.

CLARKSVILLE, Oct. 13.—Henry Dykes' barn was fired and as he rushed out of his house to save his property he was shot from ambush and killed. The assassin was recognized by Dyke's son, who had followed his father into the yard. A posse was organized and Andrew Jackson, the accused, captured. Mrs. Dykes asked the posse to let her kill the assassin if captured. Jackson was taken to her home, and she was handed a double barreled shotgun.

She raised the weapon, hesitated, and lowering the gun, asked that the law be allowed to take its course. The posse started for the jail with the prisoner, but was overtaken by a mob. A rope was placed around the prisoner's neck, and while the mob were in the act of hanging him the sheriff and his deputies dashed up and wrested the prisoner from the lynchers.

American Board of Foreign Missions.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 13.—The American Board of Foreign missions has decided to meet next year at Brooklyn, N. Y., and elected the following officers: President, Richard S. Storrs; vice president, E. W. Blatchford; corresponding secretaries, Judson Smith, C. H. Daniels and James L. Barton; recording secretary, Henry A. Stimson; assistant, E. N. Packard; treasurer, L. Sward. A special and most important committee to boom finances was appointed. Many vacancies in the board were filled and twenty-five new members elected. A motion to admit women as corporate members was offered and will precipitate a spirited debate later.

The Bradshaw Whitecap Case.

QUINCY, Ills., Oct. 13.—The jury in the case of the Kingston whitecaps rendered a verdict after being out seventeen hours. All the defendants were acquitted of murder. George Kistner was convicted of manslaughter and given one year. The trial lasted eight days and 300 people were summoned as jurors or witnesses. July 19, 1893, whitecaps visited the house of Mrs. Breckinridge at Kington to warn away S. P. Bradshaw, of Quincy, and some one shot Bradshaw dead. Kistner is supposed to have fired the shot.

Fitzsimmons Objects to the Articles.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—After receiving by mail a copy of the fighting articles from New York Bob Fitzsimmons declared that he would not sign them in that shape. He objects to fighting for the championship belt put up by a sporting paper, as he considers it put up for advertising purposes. Also to the size of the gloves, which should be five ounces, the same used by Corbett, Sullivan, Mitchell and himself. Also to the club naming the referee unless a clause be inserted that he shall be satisfactory to both parties.

Wisconsin Christian Endeavorers.

OSHKOSH, Oct. 13.—Five hundred delegates are in attendance upon the Wisconsin state convention of Y. P. S. C. E. The opening services were conducted by Rev. J. T. Chynoweth, of Sheboygan. A reception to the delegates and supper followed.

THE COMPANY SAYS "NO"

And the K. of L. Say "Yes" and Thereon May Hang a Strike.

OMAHA, Oct. 13.—Threatening labor troubles are breaking out among the rival switchmen's organizations in the west. Some time since two organizations started on the Union Pacific. One was a new body and the other was a branch of the K. of L. The leader of the knights branch was James Scanlan. He was accused of having left the city without proper permission and was discharged from the employ of the Union Pacific. A STRANGE CASE.

How an Enemy was Foiled.

The following graphic statement will be read with intense interest: "I cannot describe the numb, creepy sensation that existed in my arms, hands and legs. I had to rub and beat those parts until they were sore, to overcome in a measure the dead feeling that had taken possession of them. In addition, I had a strange weakness in my back and around my waist, together with an indescribable 'gone' feeling in my stomach. Physicians said it was creeping paralysis, from which, according to their universal conclusion, there is no relief. Once it fastens upon a person, they say, it continues its insidious progress until it reaches a vital point and the sufferer dies. Such was my prospect. I had been doctoring a year and a half steadily, but with no particular benefit, when I saw an advertisement of Dr Miles' Restorative Nervine, procured a bottle and began using it. Marvelous as it may seem, but a few days had passed before every bit of that creepy feeling had left me, and there has not been even the slightest indication of its return. I now feel as well as I ever did, and have gained ten pounds in weight, though I had run down from 170 to 137. Four others have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine on my recomendation, and it has been as satisfactory in their cases as in mine."—James Kane, La Rue, O.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs.

In the Clean Sweep Co. is the balloon.

—William Hull, of Franklin Grove, was Thursday charged with bastardy before Justice Blocker and was bound over to the next term of court. He is now confined in the county jail. The complaint was made by Miss Minnie Kugler.

—William Gruver, of Chicago, is in this city to spend Sunday with his parents. Will is now connected with the law firm of Barnum, Humphrey & Barnum. We are glad to note the success yf the young man in the profession he has adopted.

—Don't forget that the 16th and 30th inst. are the two days set apart for the registration of voters. Let every Republican voter see to it that his name is on the registry list. Do it next Tuesday, in case you may forget it on the later day.

—A passenger run was made on the Northwestern from Rockford to Chicago Thursday morning in just one hour and fifty-five minutes. The schedule time is two hours and thirty minutes, but the train was half an hour late on the start.

—J. K. Hayden and wife entertained a few friends at their beautiful home in North Dixon last evening. Games were played and a general good time had until a late hour. The Star Imperial Mandolin Club were present and discoursed sweet music.

—The Rev. G. W. Skilling, formerly minister of the Universalist church, will occupy the same pulpit for the People's church next Sunday evening at usual service hour. Mr. Skilling has many friends in Dixon who will be pleased to see and hear him again.

—The property of H. E. Gedney, near the railroad depots, advertised for sale elsewhere, has been platted into lots and are so located as to make elegant lots for business or residence purposes. Persons desiring a good investment should call on Mr. Gedney at the Keystone House.

—Mrs. Matilda Sauers, a resident of Franklin Grove since 1863, died at her home in that village on Tuesday morning last, in her sixty-third year, from hemorrhage of the lungs. She was the mother of fourteen children, eight of whom are living. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Daniel Dierdorff on Thursday.

—Between sixty and seventy of the friends and neighbors of Julius Lloyd assembled at his house last night and were royally entertained by him with a fine collection of magic lantern views, embracing Roman, Egyptian and civil war scenery. Also with some fine orchestra music. After an appetizing supper the party reluctantly dispersed, to remember long the pleasures of the evening.

—Jake Schuck, the seventeen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Schuck, of Palmyra, was thrown from a wagon near his home this morning. He was driving the water-wagon for the stone crusher and in going from the quarry to his home, in passing over a ditch, was thrown to the ground, the wheels passing over his chest. He was picked up unconscious and medical aid summoned. Dr. Blackman was the first on the scene and found that the boy was not badly injured, and no serious results are anticipated.

—A pleasant reunion at the old homestead, of the mother, children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, was held last evening at B. L. Bunnell's residence on the Woosung road. The family were among the first to settle in Lee county, the father, Charles Bunnell, having come here in '56. The occasion was the celebration of the seventy-seventh birthday of Mother Bunnell, yet hale and hearty, for so advanced an age. An appropriate gift was tendered her by the eldest son, B. L. Bunnell, in behalf of all present.

—We have before us samples of corn from fields three or four miles west of Polo, which are certainly as fine as is usually produced One is an ear of fourteen row yellow dent, hard, solid and well matured, measuring thirteen inches in length. This is from the field of Jacob Wheeler. From the field of John Atkinson we have two ears, one of red dent fourteen row corn, eleven inches long and nine inches in circumference; the other yellow dent twelve inches in length, eight and three-quarter in girth and contains twenty-two rows of well developed kernels.

—One effect of the free trade legislation of our Democratic friends on the tin plate industry is incidentally stated in a dispatch to the Louisville Commercial, from Elwood, Indiana, whose tin plate works, the Sun claims is still in full blast. The dispatch states that English capital and steamship lines, with the co-operation of the Grand Trunk, Canadian Pacific and other English corporations, have forced the railroads of the United States to carry tin plates from New York to interior points for about one-fourth the rate charged from Indiana tin plate works. The rate from Elwood to New York on a box of tin plate is 25 cents, and from New York to Indianapolis, seventy-five miles west of Elwood, the rate is 8 cents. From New York to Denver it is 48 cents, while from Elwood to Denver it is $1.04. This discrimination is universal. The dispatch states that "the American tin plate factories have shut down, fighting for a 30 per cent reduction," and states that the Welsh factories have started up with a reduction of 20 per cent.

THE WEATHER.

The following is the weather forecast telegraphed us at 9:25 o'clock a. m. today from the government observatory at Chicago:

Tonight fair and colder. Sunday fair and warmer by evening.

If you do not think you have gotten enough for your money in Clean Sweep go to the box office and get your money back.

—If THE TELEGRAPH will take the pains to investigate it will find that tin plate factories are still running at both Gas City and Elwood, Ind., and have not closed down, notwithstanding the reduction of the tariff and the disastrous effects of Hon. A. J. Hunter's speech.—Dixon Sun.

We are more than pleased to hear the Sun make the above statement. A few months ago all free trade editors were proclaiming that there were no tin plate factories in this country. Those large establishments at St. Louis and Pittsburg lately closed, the Sun declared were mere pretentions. Time and again it was said that they were shams. What a glorious change! Now the Sun proclaims in bold language and in apparent delight, that even those little affairs at Elwood and even that at Gas City, may be considered full fledged tin plate factories! Gas City! When and how did you, diligent brother, find Gas City? And how did you discover that there is a tin plate factory at Gas City? Only a few months have passed when you could not believe that there were tin plate factories at Pittsburg, St. Louis and other large cities to which THE TELEGRAPH called your attention; but now you can see a tin plate factory in every little tin shop. Circumstances alter cases! Yesterday there were no tin plate factories in all the land that the Dixon Sun could discover; today every itinerant tinker is a tin plate manufacturer. What humbugs we politicians are, to be sure.

Tricks That are Vain.

The following from the Pawpaw Times has some good points in it, but we object to the idea that there is any sort of a doubt in the election of the entire Republican ticket next month in this county. The Times says:

"In considering the possibilities of carrying through the straight Republican ticket this fall in Lee county, every man who considers himself a Republican should work incessantly for the victory and show no sympathy for any opposition candidate either by work or deed. The Republican who falters this year is furthering the Democratic cause, not only for this year, but gives it strength for the canvass in the future. There are those who are thinking seriously of voting for a certain candidate on the Democratic ticket who have been excited to this feeling through numerous dodges, worked to extract support and pity from our ranks. What should you think of this man who, with a long face, declares that he has lost caste with the Catholic voters, and then as sadly informs Catholics that his chances for election have been greatly endangered by his tolerance of them, and that unless he receives their full vote he will be wiped out, as an unsteady building in a cyclone?—which by the way, will likely be his fate. No Republican should be taken in by such trash, but let us go to the polls and mark the cross in the circle at the head of the Republican column, and the count will do the rest. Can a voter have full confidence in a man who having accepted a Democratic nomination with a "rousing speech," and later on during the canvass tells the Republicans that he is making a Democratic canvass, but after election proposes to become a disciple of Republicanism? We think not. Conditions being equal, why should we help the tariff tinkers into office?"

ASHTON, Ill., Saturday, Oct. 13.

EDITOR TELEGRAPH:—

The Republicans of this vicinity turned out in full force on last Friday evening to listen to the political topics of the day discussed by the Hon. R. R. Hitt and our own Judge Farrand. The Ashton band discoursed strains of patriotic music to the satifaction of all present, after which all repaired to the school hall, where those who came in after 8 o'clock found but standing room. The chairman of the evening, Dr. Taylor, introduced Mr. Hitt, who held the vast audience spell-bound for one hour and a half, and when he had finished the audience as a body called out "go on," "go on." Then came a call for Judge Farrand, who but increased the appetite of the audience for more of the same kind of food. The Judge is a favorite in this part of the county as is the Hon. R. R. Hitt, and we have good reason to belive their speeches will bear fruit. *

Tom Reed's Mustache.

Every one who has ever made a close study of Mr. Reed's characteristics of face has noticed that he nourishes a very small mustache. Everything about Mr. Reed is large but the hirsute ornament of his upper lip. Yet the man from Maine is proud of it, like a mother of her puniest offspring.

Once upon a time the ex-speaker was taking his family to a neighboring town and entered the railroad station to purchase tickets. He pulled out a large bill, paid for his tickets and walked away without taking the change.

He had been seated in the train but a short time when the conductor approached him.

"Did you leave your change at the ticket station?" he asked.

Mr. Reed suddenly recollected that he had.

"The ticket agent who sold you the tickets," said the conductor, "described you as a very large man with a smooth face"——

"And a mustache?" put in Mr. Reed.

"No," said the conductor, "he didn't say anything about a mustache. I guess he didn't see it."

Mr. Reed thrust his recovered change into his pocket, with a pout.—Washington Post.

A Trick of the Trade.

There is a little trick in the cigar business to which some dealers will confess good naturedly if you ask them about it. The dealers display a card in a box announcing that the cigar is sold for 20 cents—$19.50 a hundred. The extremely innocent person would suppose that a dealer could not expect to sell many of those cigars at wholesale when a buyer of 100 would save only one-half a cent on each cigar. Well, the dealer doesn't expect to sell them by wholesale, and he doesn't sell them, but he knows that it just tickles a smoker to death to think that he is getting a single cigar for practically what it would cost him if he bought a shipload of them.—New York Tribune.

DELIGHTS AND WOES OF NAPLES.

Where the Beggars, Donkey Boys and Other Rogues Are All Pervading.

About Sorrento there is something of a Neapolitan flavor in the air. The Neapolitan small boy is half monkey, half comedian and half thief, and here, as elsewhere, the boy is father to the man. In Sorrento there is the municipal band, more inexorable in Italy than death itself. There are the little companies of men and women who dance the tarantella in costume on the terraces of the hotels and sing vulgar songs, which the foreigner takes for national airs.

There are not indeed so many beggars as in Naples itself and its vicinity, but the perpetual attempt to extract small coin from the visitor occupies the sole and undivided attention of at least one portion of the population. Here, as in Naples, the guide guides not, but chatters, butchering what he supposes to be the foreigner's language in order to make himself a holiday. Here, as elsewhere, the lively donkey boy twists the patient ass' tail, ultimately requests you to dismount at the steep places and gets on himself. Here, as in all southern Italy, the small deceptions of a very poor and not very clever people bring a smile to the keen but often good natured northerner's face.

All this I might describe at endless length had it not been done so often, and in one or two instances so well. There it all is, more or less lovely as to its surroundings, more or less modern in its buildings, more or less civilized by the people that move upon the scene. And below it and before it and facing it stretches the sea, the eternal, ever changing, ever abiding sea.

The splashes of human wrought color and the deeper tones of man planted orange gardens and olive groves and vines are forever contrasting with God's own palette, with that broad water wherein are mingled the precious things of day and night, the maiden rose mellow of dawn and the gorgeous purple of imperial evening, the gold of the sun, and the silver of the moon, and the precious stones of the stars, all blending at last in the depths of the great liquid sapphire of that sea which wise men of old believed to be the source of all living things.—Century.

Hypodermic Injections.

Hypodermic injection was discovered by Majendie. Morphia is perhaps the most familiar drug so used. But the variety of drugs is very great, and there are numerous cases in which life would certainly be lost if there was no way of medicating the patient except through the mouth.—Popular Magazine.
